RE: Amended 28E Agreement for Mental Health Advocate Services

The Mental Health Advocate is a position which is under the direction of the Chief Judge of the District. However, the position is paid for by the county. Rose McVay is the Mental Health Advocate for Scott, Cedar, Clinton and Muscatine Counties. Chief Judge Alpers recently appointed Rose to be the Mental Health Advocate for Jackson County, thus expanding her current duties.

In 2001, Scott County agreed to enter into a 28E Agreement with Cedar and Muscatine Counties for Mental Health Advocate Services. The agreement is automatically renewed each year unless terminated by one or more parties or there are concerns with the agreement/services. Rose McVay is excited about serving Jackson County citizens. She has been an advocate for fifteen years and does a great job.

With the additional county, the billing percentages for each county will change. Partner counties are responsible for a percentage of expenses of the Advocate. The percentages are based on approximate caseload size. Rose McVay assisted in the adjustment of the percentages to accurately reflect her client caseload in each county.

Currently, Scott County pays 46%, Cedar County pays 7%, Clinton County pays 28% and Muscatine County pays 19% of the expenses. The caseloads were reviewed and the new percentages will be: Scott County 42%, Cedar County 6%, Clinton County 23%, Jackson County 9% and Muscatine County 20%. The change in percentage for Scott County means a savings of approximately $3200.

I have had discussions with Cedar, Clinton and Muscatine Counties about the changes. All counties support Rose McVay's additional county responsibilities and the percentage changes.

If the Board of Supervisors agrees with the amended 28E Agreement, I will forward it on to Cedar, Clinton, Jackson and Muscatine Counties for their consideration. I will be available at the Committee of the Whole to discuss the revised agreement and answer any additional questions.
